

Foreword

ix

Concepts of Governance

“Good Governance”: The Metamorphosis of a Policy Metaphor 3

Martin Doornbos

History shows that the vagueness of the term may not be an accident.

Local and Global: International Governance and Civil Society 19

Julie Fisher

NGOs and civil society have a greater impact on policy and governance than many are willing to admit.

The Private Side of Global Governance 41

Shareen Hertel

Public institutions need to pay more attention to what the private sector is doing internationally, and develop standards to govern them.

Strong and Weak States: Cases of Governance

Markets, Workers and Economic Reforms: Reconstructing East Asian Labor Systems 55

Frederic C. Deyo and Kaan Agartan

East Asian have managed to avoid the political collapse that can follow economic crisis. Can their example be followed elsewhere?

The Precarious Revolution: Unchanging Institutions and the Fate of Reform in Iran 81

Farhad Kazemi

Does economic stagnation mean that the Islamic Revolution has failed?

Beyond the Orthodox Paradox: The Breakup of State-Business Coalitions in 1980s Turkey	97
Isik Ozel
Attempts at market reforms led only to a larger public sector and the alienation of the private one.
“If I Do These Things, They Will Throw Me Out”: Economic Reform and the Collapse of Indonesia’s New Order	113
Benjamin Smith
Oil revenues allowed the consolidation of an authoritarian regime, but also laid the foundation for its collapse.
Development Without Equality	129
An Interview with Raul Domingos
Is Mozambique headed for another civil war?
Institutionalizing Global Wars: State Transformations in Colombia, 1978-2002	135
Francisco Gutiérrez
Attempts by the state to strengthen its ability to deal with two wars have only made it weaker.
In Search of Democratic Governance in Central America	153
Carlos Sojo
As Central American countries fail to produce meaningful democracy or economic development, the patience of their people begins to run out.
Reaching for Stability: Strengthening Civil Society-Donor Partnerships in East Timor	169
Rebecca E. Engel
In the absence of a strong government, donors and civil society must work more closely together to fill the gap.
Healing Governance? Four Health NGOs in War-Torn Eastern Congo	183
Dennis Dijkzeul
International organizations cannot bring good government to Congo, but they can alleviate the suffering of the Congolese.
Living Without a Government in Somalia	201
An Interview with Mark Bradbury
For Somalians, statelessness has meant both crisis and opportunity.

Building a State in Iraq: Is There a Good Precedent?	219
An Interview with Simon Chesterman
Will Iraq end up like Saudi Arabia, Egypt or the West Bank?

The Andrew Wellington Cordier Essay

Stabilizing Macedonia: Conflict Prevention, Development, and Organized Crime	229
Philip Gounev
Stability will not come to Macedonia until its rampant organized crime is addressed.

Book Reviews

Private Authority and International Affairs and The Emergence of Private Authority and Global Governance	245
Tim Büthe

Taxation Without Representation in Contemporary Rural China	253
Ashley Esarey

The Limits of Law: Essays on Democratic Governance	256
Mona Lena Krook

Power and Governance in a Partially Globalized World	261
Matthew S. Winters	